“Offices are social spaces. The whole reason for their existence is as a place for people to meet and work together”

We listen...

Whitespace will establish your organisational, functional, technical and aesthetical requirements and provide advice in:

- Changing working environments
- Cost effective product solutions
- Legislative and Health & Safety guidance
- Alternative working practices

The information built up from the consultation process will help us produce 2D office plans offering a choice in layout, space utilisation, primary and secondary circulation routes, communication and work flow patterns. Schemes will be supported by visualisations and mood boards.

Our designers will create the ideal interior to suit your practical, aesthetical and financial requirements.

Fully rendered drawings can be created giving a 3D full colour impression of the proposed scheme. 3D panorama views allow you to enter into your new environment.

“Today offices are not about status, they are about working smarter and should offer an equitable use of space and open, non-hierarchical space”
